Mike Tyson – “Given their history, it should come as little surprise that Tyson is endorsing Trump for president.

“Yeah! Hell, yeah,” he exclaims of Trump 2016.

“That shit is the real deal. Listen: I’m a black motherfucker from the poorest town in the country.

I’ve been through a lot in life. And I know him. When I see him, he shakes my hand and respects my family. None of them—Barack, whoever—nobody else does that. They’re gonna be who they are and disregard me, my family. So I’m voting for him. If I can get 20,000 people or more to vote for him, I’m gonna do it.”

I ask Tyson, who converted to Islam while in prison, how he could support Trump, who proposed a ban on

Neutral

Wow... I can't find anyone who knows both Clinton & Trump who is neutral... our country is in too much of a political & spiritual divide.

OK, while I support Trump, I'll be that 'neutral' peacemaker – see my recent Election Coverage on www.GordonWatts.com or www.GordonWayneWatts.com where I say lots of nice things about Hillary Clinton (who, by the way, was also an excellent Student Body President, and had a level head & calm demeanor). – I don't support her now, but I must show the most respect for all parties, even when I strongly disagree with policy and/or suspect that they were dishonest, or a bully, in some way [Disclaimer: I don't personally know either Trump or Clinton, but someone must be the neutral voice of reason – to be a peacemaker, so I'll be that person.] ~~GW//

Hillary Clinton For President”-- “Former White House intern Monica Lewinsky, who was made famous after having “sexual relations” with then-President Bill Clinton in the Oval Office, said on Sunday that she’s “officially endorsing” Hillary Clinton in her bid to win the presidency in 2016, just two hours after Clinton announced her candidacy.

Lewinsky, ironically clad in a blue dress during her interview on CNN, said that Hillary is “the only candidate with a clear and sensible vision for America,” remarking that “she’s on the verge of finally getting through that last piece of glass,” a reference to Clinton’s 2008 concession speech.

“I think Hillary Clinton is exactly the sort of strong, intelligent, responsible leader this country needs,” Lewinsky said. “Her domestic policy experience as a Senator and her foreign policy experience as Secretary of State give her an unrivaled understanding of the many issues our nation is facing today. And while Republicans just want to say ‘no’ to everything, and have a platform of turning back everything Obama accomplished, Hillary’s campaign is one of ideas. Of making the future brighter.””

Melissa Young, a former Miss Wisconsin, shares nominee's concern for her health – “She doesn’t know what each new day will bring in terms of her health. But a former Miss Wisconsin, Melissa Young, said she plans to do all she can with the energy she has left to support Donald Trump’s candidacy for the presidency.

"Until my last breath, I will speak up about this. I want to leave something so great my for my son — to look back and realize that I didn’t have the energy, that my body was failing me, but I still had a voice, and to always stand up for what you know is right. I will always speak up for Mr. Trump until God takes me home," Young told Sean Hannity on Fox News during his broadcast Friday.

Crowned Miss Wisconsin 11 years ago, Young has been terminally ill since the birth of her son, who just turned eight years old. Young competed in the then-Trump-owned Miss USA pageant in 2005, during which she won the "Miss Congeniality" title.

"I will always speak up for Mr. Trump until God takes me home," said Melissa Young.

Anthony Gilberthorpe – "It should be the lead story on every network, but you'll likely only see it in a few places. It doesn't change the fact however, that an eye-witness has come forward to say the woman accusing Trump of sexual assault on the plane, was actually pursuing him..."

Donald Trump's campaign says a British man is countering claims that the GOP presidential nominee groped a woman on a cross-country flight more than three decades ago.

The man says he was sitting across from the accuser and contacted the Trump campaign because he was incensed by her account — which is at odds with what he witnessed.

"I have only met this accuser once and frankly cannot imagine why she is seeking to make out that Trump made sexual advances on her. Not only did he not do so (and I was present at all times) but it was she that was the one being flirtatious," Anthony Gilberthorpe said in a note provided to The Post by the Trump campaign.

In an exclusive interview arranged by the campaign, Gilberthorpe said he was on the flight — in either 1980 or 1981— where Jessica Leeds claimed Trump groped her.

Gilberthorpe, 54, said he was sitting across the first class aisle from the couple and saw nothing inappropriate. Leeds was wearing a white pantsuit, he said, while Trump was wearing a suit and cuff-links, which he gave to his British flight companion.

Indeed, Gilberthorpe claimed, Leeds was “trying too hard” in her attempt to win Trump over.

“She wanted to marry him,” Gilberthorpe said of Leeds, who apparently made the confession when Trump excused himself and went to the bathroom. <http://100percentfedup.com/oops-hillarys-hit-woman-lied-trump-groping-hereye-witness-comes-forward-one-flirtatious/>
