INDEX TO THE APPENDIX

APPENDIX A: Letter from Hon. Jeffery Atkins, Deputy Clerk for case initiation

APPENDIX B: College Loan statement (mail) – Proof of substantial interest for Intervention/Joinder

APPENDIX C: College Loan statement (screenshot) – Ibid.

Statement of the Case

On Oct 15, 2015, This Court received a petition for Certiorari from Petitioner, Mark W. Tetzlaff in the above-captioned 'College Loan' bankruptcy case—subsequently denying Certiorari on Jan 11, 2016.

The undersigned Movant, Gordon W. Watts, sought both Intervention and Joinder in a timely manner, with the intent to obtain party status, thus giving him legal “standing” to seek rehearing when it became apparent that Mr. Tetzlaff's attorney had dropped the ball & failed to petition for rehearing.

As demonstrated in the online docket Movant has provided at:

http://GordonWatts.com/FannyDeregulation/Tetzlaff-case/DOCKET-15-485_Tetzlaff-v-ECMC.html

or:

GordonWayneWatts.com/FannyDeregulation/Tetzlaff-case/DOCKET-15-485_Tetzlaff-v-ECMC.html

Hon. Erik Fossum, Associate Clerk, responded that Movant had not timely filed his Intervention/Joinder motions, since the paperwork arrived on the 6th, not the 5th, and (moreover) that it would be late even if had arrived on the 5th, since the case had been denied Cert.

With no objection from Mr. Fossum, Movant responded to these points, and objected, citing various Federal case law and related statutory authority to rebut this claim.

On Feb 22, 2016, Hon. Jeffery Atkins, Deputy Clerk for case initiation, responded, effectively upholding Mr. Fossum's refusal to file the Intervention/Joinder.

Movant then spoke by phone with Mr. Atkins who asserted that the Intervention case law in question was not binding upon court since it was from a Circuit Court of Appeals (a lower appellate court). However, Mr. Atkins had no answer to Movant's question about why the Joinder case law was inapplicable.

The instant “Motion to allow filing nisi Clarification contra,...” in the case at bar, is herewith submitted to This Court with the request to file.

Summary of Argument

The full title of the instant filing is: “ Motion to allow filing nisi Clarification contra  concurrent with Oral Argument request – and RULE 25.4 Motion for Approval to expand Page Limitations.”

In other words, this motion asks The Court to allow the timely-submitted Intervention/Joinder motion (and the enclosed errata relating to the certificate of service and misc. scrivener's errors) to be filed by The Clerk, “unless 'contra' Clarification” can be given by the court. (In addition, it has come to the attention of Movant that he accidentally included argument in the appendix, which should, properly, belong in the body of the brief, in violation of Rule 24.3: “An appendix to a brief may include only relevant material, and counsel are cautioned not to include in an appendix arguments or citations that properly belong in the body of the brief.” Since the bankruptcy law argument is so complex, Movant would properly need to include the 'argument' in the Appendix as part of the 'body' of the brief, thus exceeding the word or page limits for a brief of this sort. (It is less than a hundred pages in excess – “light work” for This Court, even considering Movant accidentally overlook double-spacing in some instances.) Thus Movant respectfully asks This Court to allow expansion of word/page limits sufficient to allow the initial filing to go through, notwithstanding Rule 33.2(b) which would otherwise cap me at 40 pages: If I must do the job, I insist on doing it “right.” – Thank you.

Reasons for granting the Motion (argument)

I won't re-argue the 'details' of my case: I did a pretty good job of that within the “4 Corners” of each filing. However, I did make the serious mistake of not talking more with the clerks before submitting my paperwork: It is clear, in hind-sight, that the clerks had good intention but (I'm guessing) their heavy case-load precluded them from giving my case as much detail as I, myself, have given it. So, for the 'deep legal' underpinnings, I refer you back to my filings, which were served in the following manner:

- (1) By hard copy (FedEx 3rd-party Commercial Carrier and/or U.S. Postal Service)
- (2) By e-mail (optional, but effected e-service, just to show courtesy for the litigants)
- (3) By posting a TRUE COPY of said filings online at my docket, which is front-page news on my namesake page, and on two (2) different mirrors, in the event that one “has a flat” on the Internet Highway: That way, I 'have a spare.'

But, to summarise:

[[1.]] Intervention is permitted by Federal Case Law which, while not binding upon This Court (it is from a FEDERAL Circuit Court of Appeals), is persuasive, and certainly controlling on this point of law, in light of the fact that This Court: See my Mar 04, 2016 response to Mr. Fossum.

[[2.]] Joinder is, indeed, permitted: In my Mar 04, 2016 filing supra, I pointed out that the case law allowing Joinder under F.R.Civ.P. 21 is even broader than Permissive Intervention under R.24(b): Rule 21 provides a court may join parties to an action “[o]n motion [of any party] or on its own... at any time [and] on just terms.” Fed.R.Civ.P. 21; Newman-Green, Inc. v. Alfonzo-Larrain, 490 U.S. 826, 832 (1989) (noting the policies behind R.21 apply to appellate courts). Indeed, The U.S. Supreme Court frequently exercises its authority to add similarly-situated parties to avoid potential mootness or other jurisdictional problems where doing so entails no prejudice to parties, and requiring the movant “to start over in the District Court would entail needless waste and run[] counter to effective judicial administration.” Mullaney v. Anderson, 342 U.S. 415, 417 (1952).

I pointed out that since that Newman-Green, Inc. v. Alfonzo-Larrain, 490 U.S. 826, 832 (1989) was U.S. Supreme Court case law (and very current to boot), that it was binding upon your court to grant me PDP (Procedural Due Process). Thus, while the Sup. Ct. is a court of "discretionary" jurisdiction, and thus may say "no" on the merits without violating SDP (Sustentative Due Process), nonetheless, it was the clerk's 'ministerial duty' to file my paperwork. (Let me repeat: Joinder is permitted at 'any' time.)

Clerk Atkins sympathised with my financial poverty and the associated FedEx costs shipping my filings back & forth. I thanked him for being considerate, and asked him if, in light of binding Federal case law on this point, whether he would indeed file my paperwork. He replied to the effect that he would think about it and get back with me -and that if I had any questions, to direct them at him, and not his clerks, apparently for the sake of brevity & judicial efficiency. I am herewith filing the instant "Motion to allow filing nisi Clarification contra."

[[3.]] Movant has legal standing to petition for rehearing: Since I have demonstrated a "possible" legal right to Intervene (under unchallenged appellate holdings) and an absolute right to Joinder (under controlling legal authority of This Court), then I surely may obtain party status. Since the court's time-stamp on all my filings was before time expired to seek rehearing, then my Petition for Rehearing would be timely should This Court allow Intervention and/or Joinder!

[[4.]] There is the little matter about the page length: I am in need of expansion of pages to make my argument: Said filing is only about the size of 3 'regular' briefs, if that: Recall that the consolidated cases of Obergefell v. Hodges had you read briefs from four (4) sets of attorneys, and all I'm asking is that you let me do the job of three (3) sets of attorneys – all by myself. Please read my initial filing before making up your mind, here.

CONCLUSION

Case law allowing Joinder under F.R.Civ.P. 21 is even broader than Permissive Intervention under R.24(b): Rule 21 provides a court may join parties to an action “[o]n motion [of any party] or on its own...at any time [and] on just terms.” Fed.R.Civ.P. 21; Newman-Green, Inc. v. Alfonzo-Larrain, 490 U.S. 826, 832 (1989) (noting the policies behind R.21 apply to appellate courts)

Thus, This Court's clerks have a ministerial duty to file my pleadings, and grant PDP.

I pray this court grant Joinder and Intervention (thus giving me party status to seek rehearing), and vacate the order of denial of Certiorari, grant Certiorari, and review the case on the merits, reviewing, considering, and then striking the unconstitutional Federal Bankruptcy Law which violates the “uniformity” clause regarding how College Loans are treated.

Lastly, I know that this court no longer allows oral argument from pro se litigants (as it has done in recent decades), but as long as I'm “pushing my luck” with my large requests above, I mind as well go for broke; I would appreciate it if This Court granted oral arguments, and paid for travel, lodging, and standby counsel to assist me with procedural (and possibly even legal) matters, as I don't do this sort of thing for a living: Higher Education is the 'Backbone of America' and America has a “broken back”: All the help possible is needed.

This response (and possible correction, if that is applicable) is within the normal 60-day limit associated with Rule 14.5 (Certiorari) and the 15-day limits in Rule 44.6 (Rehearing). The clerks' letter to me was dated March 11, 2016, and today is only March 18, 2016, one week later.

Rule 44.2 PROOF (CERTIFICATE) OF COMPLIANCE

As required by Rule 44.2, I am now certifying that my petition for rehearing (of This Court's denial of the Certiorari petition to which I assume I will be a party) which I filed on Friday, 05 February 2016, in this case, is (and was) presented in good faith and not for delay. (I am not filing this for delay: In fact, I'm doing my best to expedite this filing, as explained supra.) In accordance with this rule, (at least) one copy of my certificate shall bear the signature of counsel (or of a party unrepresented by counsel—myself). Actually, to be safe, I'm going to sign every single copy. The certificate shall be bound with each copy of the petition. (It is.)

 In fact, I certify and affirm that all of my filings (including this one, here) are presented in good faith, and that none of my filings are presented for delay. ***

Thank you for your interest in the Income-Based Repayment (IBR) plan. Your request for an IBR plan on your Federal Family Education Loan Program (FFELP) student loan(s) listed below has been approved.

Your monthly payments will be $0.00, beginning on 12/28/15 and ending on 11/28/16.

You'll be notified in advance when your loan(s) is up for renewal for the IBR plan. At that time, you'll be provided with a date to submit a new application, including any update to your family size, as well as your most recent income documentation.

If you choose not to renew, your payment amount for the remainder of your term will be based on a 10-year standard repayment plan using the loan balance at the time you entered repayment under the IBR plan, and unpaid interest will be capitalized (added to your principal balance).

If you request to leave the plan, your payment amount will be recalculated based on the time remaining under the maximum 10-year repayment period and the balance of your loan(s) when you discontinued the plan.

Please contact us if your financial circumstances have changed to determine if your payment amount can be recalculated.
