Re: GMAC Mortgage, LLC v. Richard B. Daniggelis, et al.
Case No: 2007-CH-29738 – before the LAW DIVISION

Friday, 02 October 2015

Dear Judge Tailor:

As is my right under Due Process of the law, I filed an affidavit & other documents of fact and arguments at law, and (of course) a notice of motion for these –in the above-referenced case, which has been assigned to you; however, seeing that my motion was docketed but not ruled upon, it became very plainly obvious that the clerks saw my filings, but that you did not see them.

In other words, there was some sort of screw-up, and “the system” did not work. (If the judge can't see the filings, this is the most serious 'Due Process' screw-up possible!) - My guess is that you were waiting for me to make a physical appearance to present my motion(s) (as is usually done), but, as I explain in my notice of motion, this is not possible.

Normally, one does not contact the judge, as this is (usually) a forbidden ex parte communication, but both Iris Reynolds, the Assistant Chief Deputy Clerk in LAW, as well as Lou Piochetta, chief assistant to Hon. Timothy C. Evans, the chief judge assured me I was permitted to send you court filings. Moreover, many courts allow motions directed to one particular judge – for example, Rule 22 of the U.S. Supreme Court governs an application addressed to a single Justice. Lastly, your mailing address is posted on the court's website, which clearly implies that it's OK to mail the judge (that's you) – but, of course, I'm going to serve the other parties, to avoid an ex parte communication – and keep them in the loop, as service courtesy requires. (I say 'usually' above, as there are occasional exceptions to the 'ex parte' rule, but that is off-topic, and for the sake of brevity, I will pass on this subject.)

Atty. Anjelko Galic and Atty. Benji Philip, both of whom represented Mr. Daniggelis, worked very hard, but both of them did NOT address several very key arguments (one of which included the fact that 2 different Warranty Deeds had identical signatures – an impossibility for a mere mortal, who can NOT sign his/her name the same exact way twice in a row! This evidences a photocopied signature, e.g., forgery fraud).

I know that I'm an “outsider” (a non-lawyer, and not someone who is directly connected with the case), but my father taught me when I was younger that any court, if it is trying to be honest and learn the actual truth, will listen to and consider evidence and input from ALL sources – yes, including myself.

To that end, please find enclosed the following documents: My sworn & notarised AFFIDAVIT (2 copies of the affidavit, as the printer made a screw-up & printed extras); the Notice of motion; Motion for Amicus; proposed Amicus brief; exhibits; –and judicial notice of scary, new happenings, all dated Sept. 08—09, 2015. As well, please see the Sept. 23, 2015 Notice of motion (filed as Sept. 24 by the clerk), giving notice of how I will appear for the upcoming 10-07-2015 conference – and proposed ORDERS.

With kind Regards, I am, Sincerely,

Gordon Wayne Watts
